- The majority of those who responded said that their child uses phonics and that they have enough information to support their use of phonics in reading.
- Most parents are confident that they know the sorts of questions to ask to support their child's comprehension.

What next?

- We will ensure that comments in reading diaries offer you next steps.
- We will offer an additional meeting to find out about phonics.
- Curriculum plans will detail reading activities that are to take place in the term.
